Reactions

- "With India believed to be the first country to commence faceless tax administration, this significant initiative will reduce the humongous amount of litigation. This initiative, which had begun on a pilot scale in 2018, will now be extended to 'appeal' for those taxpayers, who are aggrieved by various actions of the Assessing Officer. Moreover, with India positioning itself as a destination ushered by a low tax rate regime, the move would imbibe confidence among overseas investors foraying into India amid the changing geo-political matrix in the post-COVID-19 times," said Mihir Ashok Tanna, Associate Director, SK Patodia and Associates
- "The launch of the platform for "Transparent Taxation - Honoring the Honest" by the Prime Minister on Aug 13 will incentivise taxpayers to be more honest and transparent in their filings and lead to gradual rise in direct tax collections. They will enjoy the benefits of relatively less documentation and greater ease of compliance, increased liquidity and flexibility of investment choices. Faceless assessments and appeals will give confidence to the taxpayer of fairness and fearlessness," said Deepak Jasani, Head Retail Research, HDFC Securities

Advantages of the charter

- India's new tax charter also brings along a new reform, the 'faceless' assessment, and appeal
- This means that the identity of the taxpayer and the tax officer should have no bearing on the outcome of an income tax case
- The Charter is a step in the right direction in building a taxpayer-friendly approach to tax collection
- Its real test lies in its in-spirit implementation
